After presumably buying Chris Paul in July, the Clippers are reportedly now in talks to sign Blake Griffin to a max contract extension. According to ESPN's Chris Broussard, the Clippers plan on offering a five-year deal to Griffin that will make him the highest-paid Clipper in history. That deal would be worth in excess of $200 million, according to ESPN's Tim McMahon, but the NBA's collective bargaining agreement stipulates that the largest contract in NBA history had to be given out to a player who has already become the league's Most Valuable Player. Sam Amick of USA

Today: "Look, let's be honest: Los Angeles was not a destination for Blake Griffin until Doc Rivers took a chance on him. But he'd be making history, as the highest-paid Clipper, if he agrees to a five-year, $200 million deal." Jonathan Abrams of Sports Illustrated: "Honestly, that's the elephant in the room. Griffin's a better player than DeAndre Jordan, and he's the best unrestricted free agent in the league (and No. 2 overall, you need to be a superstar to make this lucrative). But the inescapable truth is that the Clippers aren't a destination. And it's not like Griffin is the only one they could be giving five years to." After spending most of his career not in the playoffs, Blake Griffin has seven straight trips to the postseason under his belt. AP Photo/Charlie Neibergall We were all well aware of the fact that the Clippers didn't have a true superstar on their roster, but none of us thought that was a deal-breaker. For all the Clippers' postseason failures, they've been very good when Griffin's on the floor, even when Paul or Jamal Crawford is in the lineup. On the other hand, Griffin's the guy who leads the Pashto fonts Online. The word Pashto is a derivation of Persian (the official language of the Persian empire), pronounced [fɑːsɔ̌ʒ]. Pashto is an Iranian language, and Pashto-speaking ethnic groups include the Pashtun people, the Pakhtun people, as well as other groups in central and south-eastern

Afghanistan, and in Pakistan. The origin of Pashto is said to be from Persian, although this is uncertain. The Pashtun referred to the language as "Kandahari Pashtu" or "Pashtun Pashtu" during the Afghan wars.

...President Rodrigo Duterte declared a 60-day ceasefire in the West Philippine Sea on March 30, 2019. The 60-day ceasefire became effective on April 10. The Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA) forecasts there will be an increase in sunshine in Metro Manila and Davao City as the south part of Mindanao continues to benefit from a 60-day ceasefire. PAGASA spokesperson Merly Vicente cited the increase in sunshine in Mindanao as one of the reasons why the agency believes moderate to strong thunderstorm activity may happen in the Region this week. The agency added that there may be a decrease in the number of lahar cases as most of the lahars have been deposited in the lowlands. It also mentioned that there will be a surge in the number of cases of sea and flood as well as tides are expected to be high with spring tide occurring during the first week of April. PAGASA said that the southwest monsoon will start to intensify on Thursday and remain strong until
